

Chopping Area

The chopping area should be large enough to allow safe use of an axe and a saw; an axe and an arm length all round is a good guide for a safe chopping area. The ground within the chopping area should be protected with some form of sheeting. There must be some form of boundary around the chopping area. The axe and saw should be stored safely when not in use.

